Join us for our first meeting of the New Year!

We are featuring two presentations on topics you need to know about today!

The OSHA and Safety program will feature NRCA's Harry Dietz. Recent changes regarding residential slide guards and crane and hoist regulations highlight the need to stay up-to-date on the latest safety issues – and those are just two of several issues to watch. An increasingly aggressive OSHA and a dangerous industry put us in the regulatory spotlight, but safety is good business for plenty of reasons. Dietz, a graduate of DePaul University and John Marshall Law School in Chicago, is NRCA's director of risk management. He grew up around a family roofing business and has had a variety of construction-related work experiences. He works with NRCA's safety committees, writes for Professional Roofing magazine and is an OSHA authorized trainer. He also handles member inquiries on rules and regulations related to OSHA, EPA, DOT, and related state agencies that affect the roofing industry.

The Code Update program will feature NRCA's Mark Graham. Mark is a favorite among speakers at WRCA events! He not only talks about how the various codes have changed, but why. More than that, he explains how those changes affect real-world installations. Graham joined NRCA in 1993 and is responsible for the association's Technical Services Section which responds to inquiries for technical information and assistance. He serves as the association's technical liaison with outside organizations and develops and maintains the association's technical documents, including The NRCA Roofing and Waterproofing Manual. Graham is the staff liaison to NRCA's Technical Operations Committee and Manual Update Committee. He also is contributing editor for Professional Roofing magazine. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Architectural Engineering from the Milwaukee School of Engineering.
